Description:

Introducing Big Boi, your 2012 Mercedes-Benz Sprinter van. This isn't your average Sprinter. We're talking extended cargo length, offering an extra four feet of space for gear-loaded adventures.

Inside, you'll find a sizable "garage" beneath the full-sized bed, an ideal stash for your mountain bikes, surfboards, rock climbing gear, and much more. Extra space means extra comfort, and you'll find no shortage of that here.

This Sprinter van is an eco-friendly dream, powered entirely by solar energy. Outfitted with several solar panels and a large capacity battery, it ensures your fridge stays cool, your fan spins, and your devices stay charged.

To keep you connected with the world or your work, we've equipped the van with Starlink satellite WiFi. Whether you're a digital nomad yearning for a serene workspace amidst nature or just don't want to miss an episode of your favorite series, our van has you covered.

Our kitchen is efficient, sporting a removable Coleman stove. The flexible design allows you to enjoy a warm meal inside or under the stars at your campsite. With a sink, lighting, and a toilet included, your essential needs are well catered for.

For those chilly nights and high-altitude adventures, the van's diesel heater, linked directly to the fuel tank, will keep you cozy, ensuring the cold never interrupts your explorations. Speaking of diesel, this beauty boasts impressive fuel efficiency, making your journey not only adventurous but also economical.

The van also comes with an inflatable outdoor shower hookup and a water tank capacity of over 20 gallons. Whether you're cooking, cleaning, or simply staying hydrated, there's more than enough to go around.

Finally, add a sprinkle of romance or wonder to your travels with our roof platform. Use the telescoping ladder to reach your private observation deck. From up there, wrapped in a blanket under the starlit sky, you'll see why this is more than just a van—it's a ticket to an unforgettable journey.
