Description:

Our home has taken care of my wife and I for the last 3 year as we lived full time traveling throughout the West. Having experienced all types of weather and driving conditions, I can say the RWD beast has made some epic journeys and has not limited us from destinations except of those extreme off road trails. We have explored the sunny deserts of southern Arizona to the snowy mountains of Idaho and everywhere in between.

Moby Dick is equipped with an induction stove top, Webasto heater, Max Vent fan, full mini fridge w/ small freezer and plenty of storage for all the gear you need to get after it outside. With 500 Watts of solar on the roof, an alternator charger setup, as well as a 30 gallon water tank, the van has plenty of electricity and water for you to live off the grid for an extended period of time. For those looking to mountain bike, the van has two fork mounts located underneath the bed (garage), allowing you to travel with your two wheeled mistress while having the assurance it is safe and secure in the van.

I believe experiencing van life can be such a valuable and powerful lesson and allows you to truly connect with the gifts we have been given.

Please feel free to message regarding any specific questions about our van.
