Description:

1000 mile maximum per rental.

This custom camper is a great way to get out of town for a few days, or longer! It is RWD, and designed for pavement or mellow dirt roads. I have both summer and winter tires for it - the winter tires do pretty darn well in the snow - but again it is RWD.

Van has solar power and enough battery bank for multi-day getaways, and more. 25gal onboard water tank with a 5 gal gray water tank underneath the sink. Must empty it if it fills up. There is also an option to hook up an outdoor shower out of the back of the van.

There's a cassette toilet that's primarily for #1, but also contains #2 smell pretty well, and it's easy to empty.

Dinette style seating converts into a bed with a few steps. Takes a few minutes to do, and I've got a how-to video with all of the instructions.

The engine is a Turbodiesel, so diesel fuel only. This motor does quite well in the mountains, but it is from 2003, so please drive it with care and don't red-line the engine on steep mountain passes. It will easily do 65-70mph up most mountain passes like I-70 in Colorado.

The van also handles quite well, but be mindful of how it can sway on windy days. Looking at you Wyoming.

There's front and rear AC, but there's not a separate AC for when the vehicle is parked. There are 2 overhead fans that allow you to pull fresh air in one, and push air out the other, which allows for good circulation of air inside the van.

In cold temps, the secondary diesel heater will keep you warm when parked. How-to video included.

There is shore power (plug-in) capability if you are at a traditional campground, which allows you to run all of the van appliances comfortably. If you are out on BLM land with no hookups, or if it's cloudy for multiple days, be aware of your power consumption. There's a battery monitor on board that makes it easy to see charge levels.

How-to videos for everything in the van will be sent via Google Drive upon booking. Reach out w/ any questions!
